

PRESS RELEASE

For Immediate Distribution
June 2026

THE LONDON TRADER SHOW 2026

A one-day event for today's retail trader

Friday, 30th October 2026; Leonardo Royal Hotel (Tower Bridge)

Today's trader faces some extremely tough choices – every day. The London Trader Show is here to help traders navigate their way through an increasingly diverse and opaque industry. To help them plan a clear, achievable path to trading success, and profit, by setting realistic goals and finding out how, what and where to go to make them a reality.

Since its launch, the London Trader Show has welcomed over 17,000 traders through the doors – mainly from UK with some delegates travelling from Europe, the US and Cayman Islands to attend.

From learning which trading opportunities will best serve their needs, to making new contacts and discovering more about trading: options trading, commodities trading, currency trading and how day trading can complement an existing investment portfolio. The London Trader Show brings it all together in one place, for one day, for traders.

The London Trader Show features trading workshops, a wide range of free seminars, live debates and interviews throughout the day, and the Lunchtime Summit panel session, chaired by Glen Goodman, with speakers including Ashraf Laidi, Adam Harris, Zaheer Anwari, Alex Spiroglou and Ian Coleman. Delegates can browse the interactive exhibition featuring some of the top banks and brokers, education companies, data providers and trading software – a busy and valuable day for all concerned.

The London Trader Show is designed specifically to provide independent training and education to active traders in the UK, supporting individuals who seek to boost income through trading, secure an income stream in retirement, enhance returns through investing, and/or to make a full-time career in trading.

Lisa Campbell, Managing Director of UK InvestEx Ltd, Organisers of the London Trader Show says, “For delegates, the London Trader Show offers a unique, live forum, where traders can learn new strategies, meet and speak to the people in the industry, explore new opportunities and share experiences with like-minded traders. It’s a valuable day for helping today’s trader find their bearings, and position themselves for profit in 2027 .”

Doors open promptly at 9.30 am and the show runs right through until 5.00 pm, providing a packed schedule throughout. Join us for a day at the London Trader Show, and immerse yourself in the world of trading, under one roof, for one day.

Note to Editors:

The London Trader Show is for educational purposes only and neither the show nor any communications or correspondence relating to the conference produced by or on behalf of the London Trader Show will constitute financial promotions or invitations or inducements to invest in particular securities or investment activities.

Tickets to the London Trader Show cost £25 on the door. Readers can claim two free tickets (worth £50!), by using this special link and registering online. Find out more at www.londontradershow.com

For further information, please contact:

TICKETS & EVENT ENQUIRIES

UK InvestEx Ltd

Lisa Campbell, Managing Director

0131 560 6542/07504 237902

lisa.campbell@ukinvestex.com

END.